Math 'N' Movement makes learning and teaching STEM and PE fun! Lesson plans combining Math and Physical Education are fully mapped to country specific curriculum and syllabus codes for the United Kingdom, United States of America and Australia. Civil Rights History Instruction Prompted by reports showing that American students knew little about the modern civil rights movement, Teaching Tolerance launched an investigation into the social studies standards states expected teachers to teach and students to learn. Teaching the Movement: The State of Civil Rights Education in the United States compared the content required by each states standards to a rubric reflecting a body of knowledge that civil rights historians and educators consider core information. A state whose requirements matched every item on the rubric earned a score of percent.
